NOT PLEASED WITH THE NOMINATIONS.

While the ticket nominated by our Republican State Convention gives universal satisfaction to those of our own political household and induces favor with many of our opponents, it is especially disfavored to that wing of the Democratic party who recognize ex-Gov. Randall as their leader and model. The press in that interest, especially the Advertiser and the Argus at Madison, take the leadings of our Republican Convention in high dudgeon and are vexed to the very soul at the nomination of Judge Randall. This to them, is the "unkindest cut of all," to think that he, the leader of the first attack made upon the Barstow dynasty, the champion who gallantly encountered and overthrew the ex-Governor in his own county, and afterward in the legislature marshaled the Republican forces for their successful assault upon "the Forty"—that he should be put forward as candidate for the very office from which he assisted in casting the curse, Randall now is more than the Argus, Argus and other organs of that interesting tribe, can put up with. Hence an outbreak of wrath and fury and a profusion of disparaging epithets in the News of yesterday. Hence too, a general clamor among the adherents of the "Forty" here and elsewhere. We like these symptoms. They confirm us in the belief that the Republican Convention made a capital hit in its selection of their candidates. Aside from their intrinsic merit, our nominees have a certificate of character in the bitter opposition of the Barstow party. Certainly "the Forty" owe Judge RANDALL no thanks. He fought them boldly and unflinchingly, and greatly aided to drive them from power and place. That they, in turn, should oppose him with all their strength, is not to be wondered at. Nor would we have it otherwise, for their hostility will only the more command Judge RANDALL to the unabashed confidence and cordial support of the People.

It is estimated in Missouri that the expense of the State in the war on Kansas was $2,500,000. A leading merchant of Independence stated recently that he could not have continued in business for six months longer.

The demands of the leaders of military companies were more impudent, and more dangerous to be released, than those of any depots in Europe.

A captain a laurel of sugar, a quantity of meat or clothing, or anything which one might have. It was refused, the man was stigmatized as a "dab-dabist," and he became at once a marked man, and his store and goods common plunder. The merchants, although in favor of the war when it began, were obliged to oppose its continuance, in order to save themselves from bankruptcy and ruin.

The diplomatic rupture at Constantinople.—We had partially prepared an article explaining to our readers the new difficulty which has arisen between Turkey, her Allies, and Russia, in regard to which England had been obliged to yield her first position, and concurred in the views of France, but the following brief paragraph from the British Telegraph Company, publishes the following card :

"Sir—I feel it my duty, before leaving for Nisibis, to let you know that I am still of the opinion that we had better not immediately seize the fort, as it would be a great loss to us.
